Alexandria Redevelopment and Housing Authority (ARHA) provides public housing for income-eligible residents of Alexandria. Information, referral, recreation, and education are also provided to the public housing residents. Waiting lists are opened periodically; call for more information or visit the website.

ARHA owns and/or operates 1,500 public and publicly assisted housing units in Alexandria. Individual or family must meet certain income eligibility requirements.

A rental assistance program for low-income Alexandria families under the Section 8 housing program is also operated by ARHA. The Housing Choice Voucher program (HCVP) is administered by ARHA. Waiting lists are opened periodically; call for more information about this program.

The following facilities are open: '

- Old Town Commons
- Chatham square
- Quaker Hill
- South Whiting
- Old Dominion
- West Glebe
- South Reynolds
- Braddock Road
- Pendleton Park

ARHA promotes personal and economic self-sufficiency for program participants through the implementation of social service programs that enhance family's quality of life. ARHA operates four primary social service centers:

- Ruby J. Tucker located at 322 Tancil Court, Alexandria
- Montgomery Street Family Resource at 910 Montgomery Street, Alexandria
- Ladrey Senior Program at 300 Wythe Street, Alexandria
